COLORED VOTERS IN ROUSING MEETING APPLAUD SPEAKERS

Issues Discussed at Big Rally Held In Trades Hall

DELEGATIONS PRESENT

Groups Come From Yardley, Newtown And Langhorne

Talk is cheap. It is easy for the Democrats to talk about what they will do for the Negroes, but the facts show that under the Republican administration we had an assistant federal district attorney, E. Washington Rhodes, for nearly eight years. As stated Robert J. Nelson, member of the State Athletic Commission and State Chairman of the Colored Division of the Republican State Campaign Committee. Mr. Nelson addressed a rally of Republican colored voters in Trades Hall, here, last night. The rally was sponsored by the recently organized Bristol Colored Republican Club.

The seating capacity of the hall was taxed to the utmost. Delegations came from Yardley, Newtown and Langhorne.

In addition to Mr. Nelson the campaign issues were discussed by James E. Groome, Yardley, president of the Bucks County Firemen's Association; and Herbert E. Millen, colored attorney of Philadelphia.

Philip Jones, president of the Bristol group, called the meeting to order and presented Louis Willhite, as the chairman of the evening. Mr. Willhite in brief remarks welcomed the guests and introduced the speakers.

Mr. Nelson gave a most interesting discussion of the issues as they affect the colored people. He was frequently applauded.

Mr. Nelson said:

Talk is cheap. It is easy for the Democrats to talk about what they will do for the Negroes, but the facts show that under the Republican administration we had an Assistant Federal District Attorney, E. Washington Rhodes, for nearly eight years. This position carried with it power, prestige and a good salary. The Democrats displaced him and until this day they have refused to appoint a colored lawyer to that position. Myles Kelly was a Deputy United States Marshal when the Republicans were in power. Mr. Kelly, a colored man, was removed and no colored man was put in his place.

The Democrats are saying more colored men should be given jobs, but two major positions held by Negroes

COLLAPSE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Philadelphia Inquirer, October 19, 1934

ARTICLE THREE

"The Democratic Party solemnly promises by appropriate action to put into effect the principles, policies and reforms herein advocated, and to eradicate the policies, methods and practices herein condemned."

To the platform adopted by the National Convention Candidate Roosevelt pledged himself "100 per cent."

In these discussions we have previously shown how the planks which pledged "a Federal budget annually balanced" and "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards" have been conveniently forgotten or deliberately ignored. This morning we invite attention to another of them which has gone the same way:

"We condemn the unsound policy of restricting agricultural products to the demands of domestic markets."

To this condemnation should be added an extract from an address delivered at Topeka, Kansas, on September 14, 1932, by Mr. Roosevelt when the campaign was reaching its height. He held up to derision—

"the cruel joke of advising farmers to allow 20 per cent. of their wheat land to lie idle, to plow up every third row of cotton and shoot every tenth dairy cow."

The "cruel joke," nevertheless, has been carried to extremes by the Roosevelt Administration.

The Farm Board, exorciated by the Democratic platform, had tried to induce farmers, not by force, but by argument, to restrict the output of wheat, which had been piled up in huge surpluses, and to advise planters to destroy a portion of their growing cotton. There was no thought of regimentation in the mind of the Board—nor in the mind of Mr. Roosevelt—when, at Columbus, Ohio, he said on October 8, 1932:

"I share the complaint against regimentation—I dislike it not only when it is carried on by an informal group amounting to an economic government of the United States, but when it is done by the Government of the United States itself."

But under AAA—the Agricultural Adjustment Administration—which is one of the basic features of the New Deal, we have witnessed serious efforts to place every farmer throughout the land under strict regulation. We have seen the Government killing millions of pigs to keep them off the

STOP RESCUE WORK

Wilkes-Barre, Oct. 24 — Believing all the victims had been accounted for officials of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company today ceased rescue work at the clunkbank of the Henry Colliery in Plains, where a slide of tons of debris killed three boys and injured two others.

While sorrow filled the homes of the young victims, scores of mine workers who had participated in the rescue work returned to their normal occupations.

Small slides continued but there was no danger, as state police held the crowds of curious behind a safety line.

NAMED TO COMMISSION

Harrisburg, Oct. 24 — Henry J. Boyle, Pittsburgh newspaper man, today was once more appointed a member of the State Athletic Commission by Governor Gifford Pinchot to succeed Dr. W. D. McClelland, whom the executive dismissed yesterday. Both Boyle and McClelland had been twice before dismissed from their posts on the Commission as a result of what has been termed a shifting of the political tide in Allegheny County. Dr. McClelland's sponsor for the last appointment was Judge Ralph Small, formerly a Pinchot leader in Allegheny County, but who recently announced his espousal of the Democratic ticket in the Fall election.

SOVIET READY FOR WAR NEUTRAL EXPERTS THINK

But U. S. S. R. is Too Occupied With Second Five-Year Plan To Want War

GREAT TRADE RIVALRY

This is the third of a series by a distinguished foreign correspondent, analyzing events in Manchukuo as Soviet Russia struggles to retain her foothold there and Japan seeks to make herself supreme in Asia.

By John Goette
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Oct. 24 — (INS) — Russia is prepared.

"The U. S. S. R. is too occupied with her second Five Year Plan to be desirous of coming into armed conflict now with any nation, but it is prepared to meet any attack."

This is the expert opinion of Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese ambassador to Moscow, who is here on leave.

Dr. Yen was more reserved in his comment on the trend of Japanese-Russian affairs:

"It is difficult to foresee at present how the current tension will turn."

Another experienced observer of Far Eastern affairs, Sir Frederick Whyte, ex-president of the Legislative Assembly of India and a former advisor to the Chinese Government, commented on his arrival here from Manchukuo:

"There will be a Russo-Japanese fight, but not immediately, because now Russia does not wish it. However, people should not expect a Russo-American alliance in the forthcoming war because America has never been allied with any country."

He referred to the widely held belief that the U. S. is committed to aid Russia in the event of war.

Sir Frederick saw little possibility of the realization of Japan's hopes of an open resumption of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, which supposedly lapsed with the Washington Naval Treaty of 1921. He pointed out that the trade rivalry of Japan and Britain in all world markets constituted a serious barrier to the cordial relationship between the two countries.

While neutral statesmen thus discuss the possibility of war, minor incidents are multiplying along the lengthy Manchukuo-Siberian border. In five months, the Japanese claim, ten Russian military detachments of aeroplanes crossed the Manchukuo border, for the purpose of espionage. Similar espionage charges are made by Soviet officials.

Major General Komatsubara, who was recently transferred from his post as chief of the Japanese Military Mission at Harbin to the Tokyo General Staff, told International News Service that the cream of the Soviet Army is mobilized along the Manchukuo frontier. He described the Red force as keeping at a barking distance.

Japanese estimate the Soviet army in the Amur River district at 200,000, with several hundred fighting planes stationed in a series of new military air-fields there. The River squadron, Japanese declare, includes 50 craft, 10 of which are in the 1,000 ton class. Likewise there are two aircraft carriers in the fleet at a new naval base at Blagoveshensk, there are 30 river craft, including four large gunboats of latest type.

Further west in Siberia, the Japanese claim to have learned that the Soviets have finished the building of eight aeroplane hangars, each capable of housing 16 planes, while others are in process of erection. All of these are at Chita. Another Japanese report adds that 120 planes have recently been transferred from Irkutsk to Chita, bringing the total stationed there to 220 fighting machines.

What Bucks County Farmers Are Thinking

(By Special Correspondent)

As the campaign progresses, the air is filled with verbal brick bats, both printed and oral. Since farmers are not given to writing editorials or mounting soap boxes to air their views, a correspondent of the Courier interviewed a number of farmers to learn just what they are thinking about on the many pressing questions just before Election.

The farmers were asked:

"Has the AAA benefited you?"

"How much are you benefiting by the rise in food prices?"

"Do the processing taxes affect you?"

"Do you believe farmers would benefit by a change in the state administration?"

"Is Bucks County being managed to your satisfaction?"

If not, what do you propose?"

"Are the farmers satisfied with the Milk Control Board?"

Expressions from farmers interviewed are as follows:

Charles A. Rowe, of Yardley:—"Things have picked up this summer, and we have done better than for several years. But the improvement is not due to any effect the AAA has had, or at least very little of it. The drought in the West and Southwest is what really sent the prices of many farm products up. Hay prices especially are due to a generally short crop."

"What effect has the wheat production program had on Bucks County farmers?" Rowe was asked.

"None," he said, "except to the very small number who signed up. The few who signed the contract got, or will get, a nice sum of money for the acres they held out of production. But only about 80 farmers in Bucks County signed the reduction contract."

"I believe that the Milk Control Board will be of service in helping to stabilize prices and bring uniformity into the trade. But it will take time to work out all the many intricate problems."

Eugene Stapler, a leading farmer of Lower Makefield Township, said: "I believe in the necessity of authoritative Milk Control Board. While the Board has not yet accomplished great things, I feel that when milk producers become more united among themselves, it will be possible for it to render helpful service. Since all adjoining states have Control Boards established, Pennsylvania must have one for self protection. I feel that the drought has had more effect in raising prices than has the AAA. The encouraging rise in the price of eggs is due to the greatly lessened number of young chickens raised this year, which with the drought in the Middle and Southwest is responsible for the cut in production. I appreciate the freeing of the Delaware River bridges since I live adjacent to the river and frequently cross the Delaware River, and I heartily approve the road building program in Bucks County."

Ezra Miller, of Newtown Township:—"I believe the whole reduction program, except so far as it affects wheat, is an abomination. I believe in the necessity of the Milk Control Board, and am willing to await further action and longer time to see how it works out. I think the Democrats missed their opportunity to cash in on general dissatisfaction by nominating a weak ticket and their failure to lay out an attractive program."

Another farmer asked as to his opinion on political and economic affairs, said: "Well, four or five months ago I thought the Democrats had everything in the bag. In fact, I myself, who have always been a Republican, had decided to change. But the Democrats in Bucks County as well as in Pennsylvania have fumbled every ball that came their way. A bunch of school boys could not have made so many bungles as they have done all the way through from the primary election to campaign speeches. Now, I am back where I belong, and that goes for my relations as well."

C. T. EASTBURN DIES AFTER PLATFORM SPEECH

He received his education at the public schools, and at Friends Central School, Philadelphia, and the Stewart Business College, Trenton, N. J., from which he graduated in 1892.

In 1892 he entered business with Stephen B. Twining, operating a stone quarry in Stockton, N. J. Upon the death of Mr. Twining in 1894, Mr. Eastburn purchased the business and operated extensive quarries at Stockton and Lumberville, N. ## Mooseheart Film Will Be Shown At Grand

We hear a great deal of talk about what Tomorrow holds for the Children of Today, but there exist in this world few better examples of a practical solution of this problem than that set forth in "Tomorrow's Citizens," an absorbing and informative short film which the Grand Theatre is currently presenting. These Citizens of Tomorrow are the children of Mooseheart, that rather inspiring juvenile stronghold in Illinois where the orphaned children of members of the Loyal Order of Moose are not only humanely taken care of, but are equipped mentally, physically and professionally for the great battle of life.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Elect Officers and Hear Speakers At Meeting In Doylestown

DR. GRAYSON SPEAKER

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 24—"This is not a fight between Republicans and Democrats; why the old-time Democrats are ashamed of the bunch who are representing them at this time, and are getting behind the Republican candidates more and more every day," said Dr. T. J. Grayson, nationally known economist and Pennsylvania University professor. Dr. Grayson spoke at the annual meeting of the Young Republicans held here last night.

The committeemen and committeewomen of the county celebrated the first anniversary of the organization with a rousing meeting. There was election of officers. District Attorney Edward G. Biester spoke of the complete collapse of the platform provisions of President Roosevelt. State Senator Clarence J. Buckman asked every clear-thinking citizen to exercise their franchise on election day and "stop this wild spending that the present administration is doing."

The officers elected were: J. Donald Bean, Doylestown, chairman; Charles Roberts, Jr., Southampton, Vernon J. Zweier, Quakertown, Edith Vandegrift, Bristol, Alice Hobensack, Ivyland, John Brennan, Oakford, vice chairman; Helen Myers, Buckingham, secretary; Gerald Hennessy, Doylestown, treasurer.

The following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS:—In every period of grave danger in this country, in every crisis that has confronted us, there has been a turning point at which our younger men and women, by throwing the weight of their sound judgment and substantial patriotism into the balance, have swung the scales definitely upon the side of safety, and thus have assured anew the security of all.

It has been so upon every occasion of actual war, when in armed conflict the youth of the land have sturdily defended and victoriously safeguarded our freedom and independence from without. It has been equally true when stealthy, subtle and insidious sapping from within has challenged our social, economic and political systems and thereby threatened the institutions upon which all our rights and liberties rest.

These institutions are threatened now, more serious perhaps than at any time in the past—threatened by unwise and unscrupulous use of usurped or unlawfully delegated powers that never were intended to be concentrated in a single branch of our government, much less in a single individual. The threat is all the worse because it springs directly from within the Government itself, and

WHEREAS:—Within a period of some 18 months, under an administration which revealed none of its real purposes during the presidential campaign of 1932, this nation and its people have been subjected to experiments of a scope and character unparalleled in any country at any time. BILLIONS have been spent in foolhardy attempts to control the laws of God and nature, and in equally disastrous efforts to suspend or revise unchangeable economic laws.

These excursions into government activities wholly foreign to the principles of our established system, not only have seriously retarded the recovery they were expected to achieve

ARREST LOCAL MEN IN ELIZABETH AS THEY PLAN THEFTS

Memie Emido Farge and John Persichillo Found Heavily Armed In N. J.

HAD STOLEN PISTOL

Both Men Have Previously Been In Custody Of The Police

Two young men from Bristol were arrested in Elizabeth, N. J., early yesterday morning when found to have been heavily armed by the police of that city.

Those taken into custody were: Memie Emido Farge, 16, of 2 Littlejohn avenue,

John Persichillo, 22, 342 Lafayette street.

Both young men are known to the police here and are said to have police records.

With the arrest of the pair a taxi-cab robbery which took place here, February, 1933, has been solved.

According to the information obtained from the police in Elizabeth, Farge had concealed upon his person a .32 calibre nickel-plated Iver Johnson revolver. It is said to have been fully loaded, and according to the number thereon belongs to James Christopher of Bristol. In February, 1933, the revolver along with other articles was stolen from Mr. Christopher's taxi-cab while parked along a street here. It was reported immediately to the police, and last night when Chief Jones checked the report from Elizabeth he discovered that the number of the revolver found in Farge's possession was the same as the revolver stolen from Mr. Christopher's taxi-cab last year. At the time the revolver was stolen from the Christopher machine, Farge was confined in a reformatory. Just how he came into possession of the gun is yet to be learned. In addition to the revolver, Farge had in his possession a flash-light and .32 calibre Remington cartridges.

Farge has been arrested here a number of times. He was first taken into custody in 1927, and has been arrested five times since. At present he is on parole from Huntingdon Reformatory. His arrests have always been on charges of burglary.

Persichillo, according to the police at Elizabeth, had concealed on his person a 12-gauge "Choko-Bore" single-barrelled, saw-off shot-gun; and 12 Defence shot-gun shells. Persichillo had also been arrested here on the charge of robbery. The two Bristol men were arrested in Elizabeth at 2:30 yesterday morning, and when questioned by the police are reported to have admitted that they were planning robberies in that city. Both told the Elizabeth police that they had previously been arrested in Bristol. Chief Jones was notified of the arrests and at once informed the Elizabeth police of the records of the two men.

Powerful Drama at Grand Depicting "British Agent"

"British Agent," the story of great love vying with almost fanatical patriotism, set in the mad, chaotic background of the Russian Revolution, opens at the Grand Theatre tonight, with two brilliant screen stars, Leslie Howard and the beautiful Kay Francis, heading a large and talented cast.

Inspired by the best selling novel of the internationally famous author, R. H. Bruce Lockhart, the drama is the stark, realistic story of the writer's own experiences in Petrograd in the days when the streets ran red with blood.

Leslie Howard plays the part of the author himself while Kay Francis, a beautiful and aristocratic Russian lady dedicated to the Red cause, is his beloved.

Because the aims of their countries were at variance, they plotted against each other, the woman going so far as to inform the dreaded Cheka, Russia's secret police, of her lover's whereabouts so that they could assassinate him, yet her love made her go to him so that they might die in each other's arms.

WAIT AND SEE

Several of Uncle Sam's bright weather forecasters have read the signs and omens and opine that this winter will be a hell-bender. Not officially, of course, as that would be unethical. Uncle Sam limits the official predictions of his weather experts to 24 hours, which is probably just as well when it is remembered how these prognostications have a habit of missing it on occasion.

But, unofficially, the consensus of opinion of the old-timers as well as the specialists is that the cold spell ahead will be colder than last winter's. If the thing happens to turn out that way few squawks will be heard from the miners and coal dealers, from the clothing trade or from the purveyors of cold pills.

That five-year-old overcoat may hang together for another winter if it is sufficiently mild, but if it develops into one of the kind the old folks talk about a new one will be essential. And the coal bin will require frequent refilling if it's a rip-shorter.

Well, there's probably nothing that can be done about it by folks who live in the northern part of the country except to wait and see and keep the snow shovel handy. With all the improvements that have been made up in the old methods, nothing has yet been advanced to curb the rugged individualism of the weather.

NEW SEATS, NEW LIFE

If an extra 15 degree angle in the back of the seats of the Metropolitan Opera House means anything, the future of grand opera in the United States is secure. For the management of that most famous of all opera houses will replace the present seats, which slant back only 10 degrees, with seats that slant at an angle of 25 degrees. They will be orange in color, and they will not squeak.

Only recently this, looked grim around the Metropolitan Opera House and Lucetta Fort was passing around the hat for an art form threatened with collapse. Now the Metropolitan is spending $250,000 on a new lease on youth—a complete sand-blast facial for the exterior, new joint mode, new lights, murals, chairs, chair covers, switchboard, dressing rooms, rehearsal studios.

When nations, economic systems and institutions are doomed, not all the beauty doctors in the world will avail them. But sometimes it takes a shave, a shine, a hair cut and a new suit from the tailor to show whether it's really doomed or only a temporary loss of vigor.

But think how long Metuselab lived, and he never saw dish of spinach or a golf stick.

Under a Republican administration have been taken away from us by those who say we should have more jobs. It is one thing to advocate but another to perform. Why don't they give us more jobs?

If the colored voters desire proof of the insincerity of the Democrats let them remember the brutal lynching of George Armwood at Princess Anne, Maryland. This lynching occurred three days before the President was scheduled to speak at Chestertown, Maryland, only thirty miles from the place this dastardly crime was committed. The President refused to speak out against lynching when he had the greatest opportunity a man ever had to help curb the tremendous increase in mob violence immediately after the Democratic administration took over the reins of government at Washington.

In this connection may I call your attention to the Wagner-Costigan Anti-Lynching Bill which had the support of more people than any similar bill ever presented to Congress. This bill was presented at a time when President Roosevelt had absolute control of Congress. Every single piece of legislation advocated by the President was passed by both branches of Congress. The National Bar Association, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Urban League and many other organizations both white and colored, including many southern white women urged the passage of the above mentioned bill due to the increasingly large number of lynchings since the beginning of the Roosevelt administration. Did the President speak out against this dark blot on the fair name of the country? He did not. He remained mute while the greatest bill for human rights and respect for constitutional law and order was killed in committee by southern Democrats.

It is the opinion of those who think and understand that the reason the President did not advocate the passage of the Anti-Lynching Bill is that it was objectionable to the southern states which control the Democratic party and if he had advocated it he would have lost the votes of Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, and some others of the Negro-hating states of the south. This failure to advocate humane legislation simply because it was contrary to a group of law breakers in the south shows that the President lacks courage or does not consider the colored people of this country worthy of his protection equal to that of the other people of the country.

Pennsylvania has ever had a friendly feeling for the colored people. In its laws there is nothing that savors of segregation or the lack of equal opportunity. Being an industrial state thousands of us fill positions in the industrial pursuits. If these industries are unable to make money and if they are taxed out of business, colored men and women would lose thousands of jobs. It is, therefore, necessary for us who live in Pennsylvania to think about Pennsylvania business. One of the chief reasons for the depression is lack of success in business. The Federal, State and City governments cannot employ every one.

Aside from a racial angle, it is necessary for the Negro to think in terms of candidates who will protect the business interests of Pennsylvania, because no first class citizen wants to live on charity. Every man and woman who is respectable prefers to have a job.

The Republican party in Pennsylvania has presented to the people of this State candidates for office of exceptional ability and character. Headed by William A. Schnader this ticket appeals to the thoughtful citizen of Pennsylvania regardless of party alignment. This is evidenced by the large number of real Democrats who are leaving their party and coming over to our party. Our candidate for Governor is the best qualified man in Pennsylvania now in the field for that high office. No other candidate who has ever aspired to this high office in the State has come to it with his intimate experience. All of the progressive laws on our statute books in the past ten years have emanated from him. All Pennsylvanians can poke out their chests with pride when they go to the polls on November the 6th and cast their vote for William A. Schnader.

Senator Reed is admittedly the ablest man in the United States Senate and all Pennsylvanians should feel it their duty to keep him there for the next six years. Harvey Taylor for Secretary of Internal Affairs is another high type man and so is Harry B. Scott, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. Judge Trexler for the Superior Court will be supported by all the people who believe in retaining in the judiciary an able and incorruptible judge.

Keep Pennsylvania in line for the Republican ticket thus assuring that feeling of confidence not only here but throughout those places in the Union where Pennsylvania is considered the bulwark of industrial supremacy.

Herbert E. Millen, prominent colored attorney of Philadelphia, reviewed the record of William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for governor and he charged that "George Earle is trying to ride into the governorship upon the Democratic donkey."

"He (Earle) never helped you or me or the things in which we are interested," said the speaker. "He is an adept polo player. He served seven months as minister to Austria and in addition to having one month's leave of absence. He made four ocean voyages."

Mr. Millen told of the work done by Senator Reed not only in the interest of the white man but the colored people as well.

"Pork chops are going up and so are all other commodities," he said, as he discussed the effects of the New Deal on the cost of living.

Mr. Groome was the first speaker of the evening and he drew attention to the importance of the present campaign and the election. He discussed the issues at length and showed their importance to the colored people.

Others to speak briefly were Mr. Hill, postmaster at Newtown; Mr. Kenderdine, active among the young Republicans of Newtown; Mr. Tomlinson, Newtown, and Mr. Tomlinson, Langhorne.

celebrate, but have invaded and curtailed some of our most important constitutional guarantees.

Beyond all this there has been a more far-reaching consequence. These policies of the Federal Government—complete reversals of past theory, which the people never had an opportunity to vote upon—have given encouragement to EVERY RADICAL within the U. S. To permit a continued trend toward radicalism means the enslavement of ourselves, our children and our children yet unborn. With the possible exception of the Revolutionary War, youth has never faced such serious problems as they face in turning back the hordes of radicals on November 6th.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Young Republican Committee of Bucks County believing that only an alert, informed and aroused citizenry can preserve the priceless traditions of freedom and justice for ourselves and future Americans, call upon all who love this country and the principles for which it stands to resist, the growth of the despotic concept that the people belong to the government, and to defend the Republican idea that the government belongs to the people by voting the whole Republican ticket at the coming election.

Nautical Ball This Year Will Be Open To Public

In years gone by the Seascouts of Bucks County have annually sponsored a nautical ball, to which only members of the county ships and council representatives are invited.

It is the desire of the Seascouts to bring to the ships' friends some of the pleasure and entertainment of the annual ball, and in order to do this the "gobs" are planning such a ball for this Fall, the date to be announced later.

The boys are arranging for a set-up nearly like that of last year's ball, which the county council stated was one of the finest arrangements they had seen at such affairs.

The orchestra will be set on a ship's bridge, before which will be stepped the mast, bearing the bell for striking time. On the bridge will be starboard and port running lights. To enter the room it will be necessary to go in via the gangway. In general all arrangements will be made to give a ship-like appearance. The date and place will be announced in time to permit all to arrange to attend.

BRILLIANT THROG AT VICHY FOR THE FENCING TOURNAMENT

By Nadia De Beaud
(L. N. S. Fashion Correspondent)
PARIS — (INS) — Vichy continues to attract not only people in search of health or a simple rest, but also professionals in some of the interesting sport events. The last to attract many to this resort was the International Fencing Tournament, at which two American fencers, Lieut. Roger Kirchoff of New York, and Dr. Allen B. Milner, of Paris and Lafayette, Ind., distinguished themselves.

Lieut. Kirchoff was finalist at this tournament, whereas Dr. Milner had been finalist at the Olympic Games. A new electric touch control apparatus was adopted officially, facilitating the work of the umpires, whose decisions heretofore had often provoked criticism and dissension.

A brilliant throng attended the matches, among them the Count and Countess de Chambray, the former Clara Longworth, who was soberly gowned in a black and white print chiffon gown, reaching to her ankles, with a light weight woolen black coat.

TACONY ACES WIN OVER BAY PARKWAY CLUB

Joe Meiman's Tacony Aces lived up to their reputation of having one of the best traveling clubs in the East when they traveled to Brooklyn, N. Y., Sunday, and handed the Bay Parkway Club their first defeat at home in three years. It was one of the biggest upsets in football this season and the close score does not indicate the easy manner in which the Philadelphians showed their superiority over their much touted opponents.

The final score was 8-7 and it was greatly enjoyed by close to 5000 fans who packed the Parkway stadium and were treated by one of the most sensational and exciting games ever witnessed on the home lawn in many a year.

The first period showed both clubs resorting to punting with Tacony having the best of the long spirals which were booted by Joe Ferret and Diamond for the home team. In the second quarter the teams opened up and the battle waged back and forth with again the Philadelphians gaining more ground; however, a costly fumble by the visitors brought the Brooklyn club to the four yard line but the heavy Tacony line held and secured the ball on downs amid great excitement from the fans.

The Aces immediately punted out of danger and with an apparent safe distance from their goal, Margolis, the former great N. Y. U. quarterback, secured the ball and heaved a long pass which was snatched out of the air by Dubinsky, who fell across the goal line for their only score.

In the third quarter both teams waged a merry battle with Tacony trying desperately to score but without success. In the last quarter the excitement started. After the Philadelphians marched the entire length of the field and were held on downs on the one yard line with Bay Parkway securing the ball when Margolis started an end run but was smeared for a loss by Pat Ferret and the Aces were credited with a safety. This gave the ball to Brooklyn again on the 20 yard line where Diamond punted a long spiral to O'Neil, who snatched the ball out of the air on the dead run and ran 70 yards through the entire club to again place the ball on the three yard line where he was downed. Tacony battled desperately and finally pushed the ball across in the last try but one second remaining of the game, to score a great and sensational victory. The visitors were immediately re-booked to appear for a later date in November. For Tacony there was no outstanding stars as the entire club functioned like a well oiled machine, and it will take a mighty fine club to beat them by any kind of a score.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

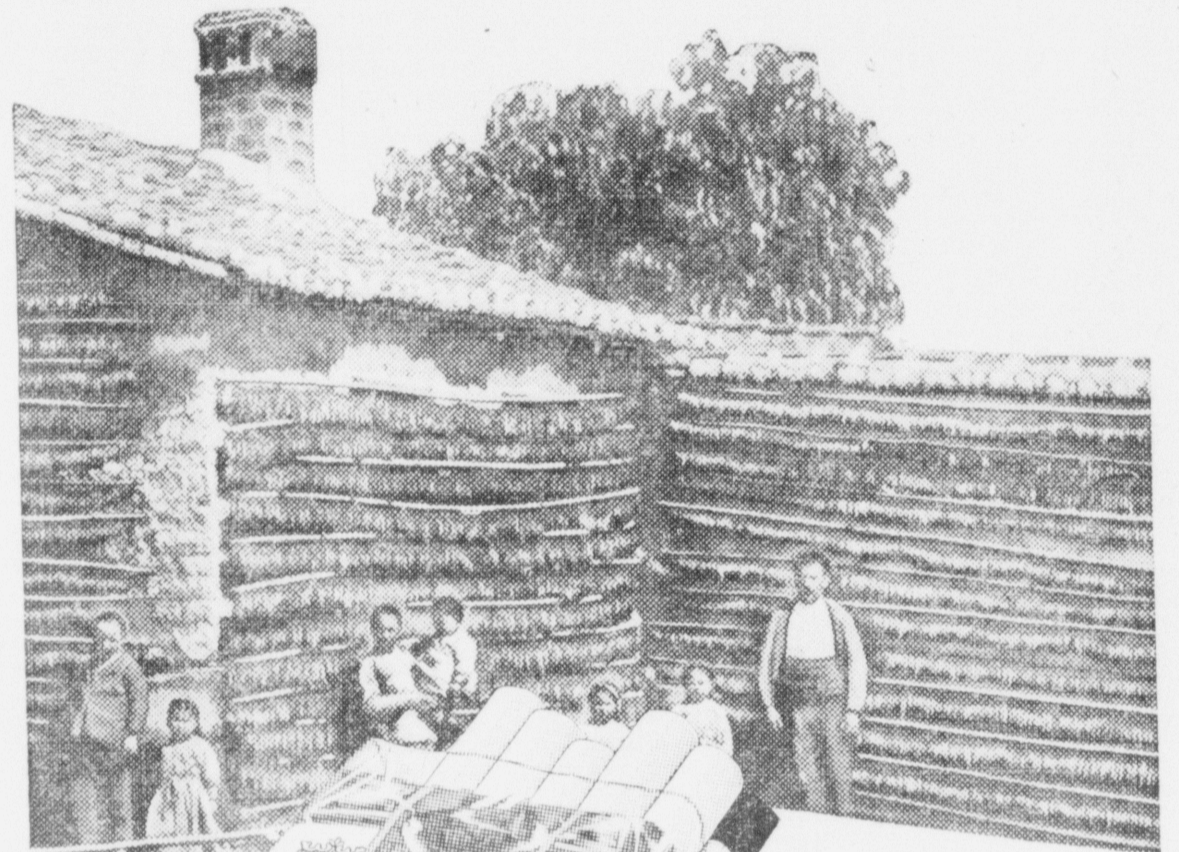

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . along the shores of the Black Sea . . . grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes.

Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
